This study covered institutions and social centers operating in Lebanon. We sought to assess their organizational structure, manpower and to ascertain their training needs. In addition, we intend to publish a guide for all centers and institutions in Lebanon.

Introduction

Social Services are characterized by their dynamic nature especially during war. Lebanon is no exception to this rule where civil war has been affecting over a number of years institutions of welfare and social services emanating from and cooperating with the private and public sectors.

Ten years of continuous strife has resulted in structural changes in institutions of services and created new realities and needs which can only be identified through field work.

On July 15, 1983, the Lebanese Ministry of Labour and Social Affairs issued a decree N°. 391: 1 stipulating the establishment of a special " Social Services Information Committee " composed of a director and four members representing the Ministry of Labour and Social Affairs, the General Directorate of Social Affairs, the Social Services Training Center and the Norwegian People's Aid Association. This Committee was to execute the terms of a three years agreement, subject to be renewed, reached between the Ministry represented by the Minister and the Norwegian Association by their delegate in Lebanon.

The objectives of the survey are:

- To identify and classify all types of existing social services in Lebanon.
- To provide well-organized guide or directory covering all social welfare organizations operating at present, and the services rendered by these organizations, whether Lebanese or non-Lebanese.
- To improve the co-operation and co-ordination among these organizations.
- To enlighten people concerned with social welfare about priorities of welfare needs in Lebanon including projects priorities and geographical locations.

Moreover, the Norwegian Association engaged the services of a Lebanese consulting firm the 'Consultation and Research Institute' to assist in the preparation and execution of the study, especially the preparation of the technical file and the computer work.

P.S. More details on content and methodology of the survey are in " Social Welfare Services in Lebanon 1985, Non-Lebanese Organizations".

The social institutions and centers covered by the study were classified as follows:

- Non-Lebanese organizations and United Nations organizations.
- Lebanese Governmental Centers of the General Directorate of Social Affairs, the General Directorate of Health and Municipalities.
- Lebanese centers and organizations of private voluntary societies which have joint projects or contracts with the General Directorate of Social Affairs.
- Private centers (Centers that do not have agreements with the General Directorate of Social Affairs).

Findings and Results

This report surveys the findings of the second part of the comprehensive study " Social Welfare Services in Lebanon". It covers the collation and analysis of the field data concerned with Governmental centers. The first part of the study covered the non-Lebanese organizations operating in Lebanon and was published early in 1985.

It is worth mentioning at the outset that the centers of the General Directorate of Social Affairs, (Office of Social Development) , are the most important projects whether to the variety of services or to geographical distribution.

The number of centers established by the General Directorate of Social Affairs is 65 distributed as follows:

- 38 Medico-Social Centers
- 23 Basic Services Units
- The Nutrition Project
- The Pilot Center for the Handicapped - Badaro St.
- The Social Services Training Center - Hadeth
- The Pilot Medico-Social Center- Badaro St.

1. The Medico-Social Centers

These centers provide curative as well as preventive medical services. They offer handicrafts and vocational training for women in various skills such as sewing, embroidery, home economics, knitting and other manual industries. These centers have nurseries in addition to other activities such as adult education, health education at homes, vaccination campaigns at schools and relief assistance to displaced people who reside in villages accessible to these centers.

2. The Basic Services Units

The objective of these units is to provide basic services in different aspects such as health, education, economic and social in both rural and suburban for community development. A multi - specialized technical team operate these basic units and their projects concentrate on small industries in order to raise the standard of living of the family and, therefore, the standard of the small community.

The first Basic Service Unit was established in Bourj el-Barajneh in 1970. This unit started as a medico-social center then developed into a coordinator of all efforts geared towards Bourj el-Barajneh community development. The success of the center initiated the General Directorate of Social Affairs to replicate this center in other Lebanese regions.

The basic services unit is run by an executive committee which is responsible for policy making and an administrative technical team in addition to a consulting team consisting of the head and members of the municipality present in the region.

3. The Nutrition Project

This project of the General Directorate of Social Affairs, supported by the Food-Agriculture Organization (FAO), has been operating in Lebanon since 1970. FAO provides the project with quantities of foodstuffs which are distributed among social welfare institutions according to their respective number of beneficiaries. The principle target of the project is to raise the standards of social service in welfare institutions through the strengthening of educational services and the elimination of nutritional deficiencies in children's meals.

4. The Pilot Center for the Handicapped

The objective of this center is to receive the handicapped children, keep a file on every child covering his health, social, mental and psychological condition and then refer him to proper treatment.

5. The Pilot Medico-Social Center

The Pilot Medico-Social Center deals with orienting, educating and training medical students, staff nurses, practical nurses and social workers in order to form medico-social teams to work in rural areas. In addition, the center assists the medico-social centers to follow-up patients and provides laboratory analysis and X-rays.

6. The Social Services Training Center

The project for social training is one of the most important projects established in 1962 by the General Directorate of Social Affairs. Since the early sixties, the Directorate stressed the placement of trained personnel in its centers in order to improve their performance and pave the way for further development.

The Social Services Training Center started as an independent center in 1969 with the collaboration of the United Nations International Children's Fund (UNICEF) with the purpose of a developmental plan to upgrade the standards of social welfare services in Lebanon, train people working in the field, and improve training concepts and methods.

The Center has a consultant body, an executive committee, an administrative and technical staff and a section for research and publications. The Center offers two types of training programmes: the full-time training programmes (long-term training) and the in-service training programmes (short term training) . The first type includes the day-care workers who are qualified to work with children in social institutions and the auxiliary social workers who are qualified to work in the Basic Services Units as well as engage in extra-curricular activities similar to educational and social youth clubs. The second type of training includes all categories and standards of personnel working in the social welfare services such as heads of social institutions and private societies, directors and workers of day-care centers, workers in social institutions and others.

A. Centers of the General Directorate of Social Affairs (OSD)

Table 1. Geographical Distribution of Centers by Muhafazah and Kaza

The table shows that there are 65 centers affiliated with the General Directorate of Social Affairs, 23 basic services units, 38 medico-social centers in addition to the Nutrition Project, the Pilot Center for the Handicapped, the Pilot Medico-Social Center and The Social Services Training Center. These centers are distributed according to geographical areas as follows: The largest number is located in the South where there are 20 centers out of the total number 65 or (30.7%), five out of which are basic services units; followed by 18 centers in Mount Lebanon or (27.7%), eight of which are basic services units, then 16 centers in the North or (24.7%), four of which are basic services units. There are 5 centers in the capital Beirut or (7.7%), one of which is a basic services unit, and there are 6 centers in Beka'a or (9.2%), five of which are basic services units.

The table shows that Tyre Kaza has the largest number, 7 centers, then Bint Jbeil Kaza 5 centers in South Lebanon. Furthermore, there are 5 centers in each of Jbeil Kaza and Ash-Shouf Kaza in Mount Lebanon.

It is noticed that the centers are not evenly distributed among the Lebanese regions. The reason, perhaps, is due to the density of population in certain areas. This, however, does not explain the small number of centers located in the Beka'a region. The General Directorate felt the need for more centers and tried to correct the situation by establishing five basic services units in this region.

Table 2. Distribution of Centers by Geographical Areas and Starting Date of Service

Starting date of service

The General Directorate of Social Affairs started its Centers between 1960 and 1965 when 8 centers or (12.3%) of the total number were established during this period. More centers were established between 1971 and 1975 making a sum of 20 or (30.7%) of the total number. Then the number of new centers decreased during the following five years between 1976 and 1980 reaching a lower figure or (17%), and decreased further during the next five years 1981 - 1985 reaching a very low percentage (3.1%). It should also be mentioned that there are 12 centers or (18.4%) which are still being established and have not commenced their activities in addition to two centers (3.1%) that are not presently active due to the Israeli invasion.

It is obvious that the decrease in the number of new centers during the period 1981 - 1985 was due to bad security conditions which led to an erratic state prevailing among institutions operating in the country.

Table 3. Table 3 shows the distribution of services by kind of service. It is normal in these security conditions that medico-social services are the most numerous with a high percentage (43.8%) including curative as well as preventive services, health education, civil defense and others. Although these services are important during normal times, they, nevertheless, acquire more importance during war days, as is the case in Lebanon. Furthermore, these medico-social centers are greatly concerned with educational services (32.1%) which include vocational training, handicrafts, educational scholarships, free schooling and others; followed by child social care services (11.6%) including primarily nurseries and children's leisure activities ; then general social services (7.1%) which include mainly seasonal and irregular emergency assistance, offering free meals for needy people (3.6%), and lastly community development services (1.9 %). The low percentage of the latter category of services is due to the war situation because interest and concern were more directed toward displaced people and emergency services.

Table 4. Distribution of Services by Muhafazah and Kind of Service

The services are distributed as shown in the table, according to geographical areas as follows: 37 services or (33 %) in the South; 33 Services or (29.5%) in the North, 30 services or (26.8%) in Mount Lebanon, 8 services or (7.1%) in Beka'a and 4 services or (2.7%) in Beirut. These figures correspond to the number of centers in each region where most of them are located in the South and North followed by Mount Lebanon .

The total number of employees of all categories working in the centers of the General Directorate of Social Affairs is 717 out of which 591 employees work on full-time basis and 126 work on part-time basis. The full-time employees are distributed according to job categories as follows: 71 specialists in social work, 24 auxiliary social workers, 41 day-care workers, 11 case workers, 7 specialized education, 94 assistant health workers, 17 vocational training, 46 handicrafts and sewing and 278 administrative workers and menial staff. Most of the part-time employees work in the health field mainly as doctors, midwives and nurses.

The table shows that there is a considerable number of employees working in OSD centers are distributed according to the size of the center. Moreover, the various job categories and specializations present allow to develop and improve the quality of the technical work in the centers. However, for technical jobs, a description and specification of every category should be provided to clarify and define the roles of employees in order to up-grade the level of their performance.

Table 6. Distribution of Beneficiaries by Kind of Service

Through health services, workers in the social welfare field and community development make contacts with people, get acquainted with them and gain their confidence. The percentage of beneficiaries of medico-social services is relatively high compared to other services because they include a large number of people. Table 6 shows the high percentage of beneficiaries (71.4%) receiving such services adding to a total of 21600 families (an average of 6 members per family). In addition, the percentage of beneficiaries of emergency assistance (free meals) seems relatively high (20.2%), or around 6105 families while this kind of service does not represent more than (3.6%) out of the total number of services.

In comparison, we notice that educational services make (32%) out of the total number while the percentage of beneficiaries is only (5.8%); and the percentage of beneficiaries of children social care (0.9%) while this kind of service represents (11.6%). This eventually, leads to the conclusion that there are kinds of services that can only serve a limited number of beneficiaries because they require time as well as human and financial resources.

Table 7. Distribution of Beneficiaries by Geographical Areas (Muhafazah)

The largest percentage of beneficiaries appears in table 7 to be in the South and Beirut (32.7%) and (22.3%) respectively. The high percentage of beneficiaries in Beirut draws attention because the percentage of services does not exceed (3.6%) of the total number of services in all the Lebanese regions. In the North, while the percentage of services is (29.5%), the percentage of beneficiaries is only (19.3%). Furthermore, in Beka'a the percentage of services is (7.1%) of the total services (table 4) the percentage of beneficiaries reaches (3.5%), and then in Mount Lebanon the percentage of beneficiaries is around (22%), almost one quarter of the total number of beneficiaries, because this geographical area includes the Northern and the Southern suburbs of the capital Beirut where there is a high density of population, mostly displaced people as a result of the on-going war in the country. This reinforces the idea that these regions are in great need of assistance and support.

We can conclude from table 7 that the number of centers does not always correspond with the number of beneficiaries. The number of beneficiaries, thus, depends on the size and efficiency of the center which explains the high percentage of beneficiaries in Beirut in spite of the low number of centers existing if compared to the number of centers and beneficiaries in the South.

The total budget of centers of the General Directorate of Social Affairs amounts to approximately 28 million Lebanese pounds making an average budget of every center 430,000 Lebanese pounds.

The table shows that the highest percentage of the budget goes to Mount Lebanon (28.6%), followed by the South (22.2%), which is normal since the highest percentage of centers are located in these two regions. The percentage of the budget allocated to the centers in the North is (20%). The budget, however, of the centers in the capital Beirut is rather high (20%) compared to the percentage of centers present (7.7%) table 1.

If we look at the average budget for every center in the various Lebanese regions, it is observed that the average budget of the center in the South is the lowest 309,700 L.L. and the average budget is higher in the North reaching 346,600 L.L. Moreover, the average budget is the highest in the capital Beirut 1127,200 L.L., followed by Mount Lebanon 444,000 L.L. The figures, thus show that the average budget is closely related to the number of beneficiaries of the center.

The figures in table 9 show that the expenditures of (52.4%) of the centers range between 150,000 and 500,000 Lebanese pounds while 20% range between 500,000 and 750,000 L.L. Moreover, the expenditures of only (7.7%) exceeded 750,000 L.L. during 1984 and (10.8%) range between 100,000 and 150,000 L.L.

Table 10, 11, 12 and 13 Distribution of Budgets by Geographical Areas and Types of Expenditures 1983 and 1984

The expenditures on services, wages and financial assistance receive the largest part of the total budget (77.9%) of all centers (OSD) in 1984 (tables 12 and 13) and (78.3%) in 1983 (tables 10 and 11), followed by expenditures on equipment and construction (13.9%) in 1984 (table 13) and (12.2%) in 1983 (table 11).

The types of expenditures although varied in 1984 among the different regions (table 13) , we may say that the percentage of expenditures on services, wages and financial assistance is the highest and exceeded 70% in all regions except the Beka'a region where the expenditures of this category are (67.8%) while they reached the highest (83.5%) in Beirut.

As to administrative expenditures, Mount Lebanon takes the lead (11.9%) in 1984 followed by Beirut (9.2%).

The Beka'a region, however, takes the first rank in its expenditures on equipment and construction (27.2%) of the total budget in 1984, followed by Mount Lebanon (16.5%).

The budgets of the centers of the General Directorate of Social Affairs increased by (11.9%) in 1984 as compared to 1983. This increase varied among the centers from one Muhafazah to the other. The increase reached (19.4%) in Beka'a followed by Mount Lebanon (16.6%) then (9.7%) in th South and the lowest (7.9%) in the North.

No marked changes are observed in table 14 in the distribution of budgets among the various Lebanese regions. The table shows the distribution of budgets of the centers according to geographical and the increase from 1983 to 1984. areas

Table 14 a. shows comparison of types of expenditures in 1983 and 1984 . The expenditures on wages and services are almost the same (78.3%) and (77.9%) respectively . There is a decrease of administrative expenditures from (9.5%) to (8.2%) while there is a small increase in expenditures on equipment and construction from (12.2%) to (13.9%).

B. Medical Centers of the General Directorate of Health

and Kaza

The table shows that the General Directorate of Health has 45 medical centers distributed according to geographical areas as follows: (28.9%) in the North, followed by Mount Lebanon (24.5%) , (22.2%) in the South, (17.8%) in Beka'a , and lastly (4.4%) in Beirut. These centers are distributed among the different Kazas in Lebanon rather than being located in the cities.

It is noticed , if we compare (table 1 and 15) , that both the General Directorate of Social Affairs and the General Directorate of Health concentrated their work in the North, South and Mount Lebanon more than other areas due to prevailing needs. This does not , however, negate the existence of needs in other areas where the number of centers is smaller and hitherto more future centers are expected to be established in these areas.

The table shows that the level of expenditure of (24.4%), almost one quarter of the total number of medical centers, is 100,000 L.L or less while (20%) is between the level of expenditure 100,000 L.L and 250,000 L.L. The highest percentage of expenditures (31,1%) falls between 250,000 L.L and 500,000 L.L. The Level of expenditures of only (11.1%) exceeds half a million Lebanese pounds.

It is observed that the expenditures of half of the total number of centers is between 100.000 L.L and 250,000 L.L. These low figures eventually constrain the size and efficiency of these medical centers.

It should also be noted that the expenditures of the centers included in the table are the contribution of the General Directorate of Health. These centers, however, receive matterial assistance ad medicaments, foodstuffs and equipment from other sources namely; the European Common Market, UNICEF and World Food Organization.

Table 17. Distribution of Employees by Job Categories

The table shows that 364 employees out of the total number in the medical centers of the General Directorate of Health engage in health services including doctors, mid-wives, nurses and others. Furthermore, there are 514 employees out of 550 who work on full-time basis. This indicates that the centers of the General Directorate of Health have a potential of human resources to operate on a wide scale. In addition, there are 36 employees, the doctors, who work on part-time basis. These figures show imbalance between the number of doctors and the number of other employees. It is suggested that more doctors are required to work on full-time basis in order to meet the needs in a more comprehensive manner.

Table 18. Geographical Distribution of Expenditures on Wages and Services 1984

At present, spendings on wages and services are related to geographical distribution. The highest percentage of expenditures are in North and Mount Lebanon (24.6%) and (24.3%) respectively, where more centers are located, followed by the South (23.5%), then by the Beka'a region (17.3%) and lastly by Beirut (6.9%).

It should be noted that these percentages are liable to change when new centers are established due to an increase in medical needs in other regions.

* An average of 264,000 L.L was adopted (this figure is the general average of spendings of medical centers) for every center where spendings were not identified.

C. Centers of Municipalities

Many municipalities, especially those with financial means, offer medical services in centers which are directly under their control.

Before the war, there were 629 municipalities distributed over the Lebanese regions albeit different in size and financial resources. However, due to the continuation of the war over a period of ten years, most of these municipalities either ceased completely or significantly curtailed their services mainly because of the great retrenchment in their revenues notwithstanding few exceptions.

Our field researchers were able to obtain information on 15 medical centers which are the only centers that are directly established by municipalities. These centers are distributed as follows:

Muhafazah / Kaza	Number
Mount Lebanon
Kesserwan Kaza	5
Beka'a
Baalbeck	1
Beirut	9
Total	15

It should be noted that some municipalities ceased to offer their medical services and combined their efforts with the basic services units present in the local communities. Furthermore, a large number of municipalities offer their medical services through joint centers established with private voluntary societies. These latter centers will be included in the following part of this comprehensive survey of social services in Lebanon.

Conclusion

The survey shows that the total number of the centers of the ~~General Directorate~~ of Social Affairs is 65 spread over the various Lebanese regions. These centers consist of basic services units, medico-social centers and a training center. It also shows that the ~~General Directorate of Health~~ has 45 medical centers.

The centers of the General Directorate of Social Affairs are geographically distributed as follows : 20 centers in the South, 18 in Mount Lebanon, 16 in the North, 6 in Beka'a and 5 in Beirut . There is, however, a difference between the number of centers and the size of services offered; while there are 5 centers in Beirut ; they have the highest number of beneficiaries in all the Lebanese regions.

The medical centers of the General Directorate of Health are distributed as follows : 13 centers in the North, 11 in Mount Lebanon 10 in the South, 8 in Beka'a and 2 in the Capital Beirut.

It is noticed from the geographical distribution of the centers that some regions are in need of more centers , especially the Beka'a. The survey also shows that the largest number of centers of the General Directorate of Social Affairs were established during the period extending between 1970 and 1975; the period prior to the Lebanese events, after which the number of the centers started to decrease during the war period, especially between 1980 and 1985.

As to the level of expenditures of the centers of the General Directorate of Social Affairs in 1984, (53%) of the total number ranged between 150 and 500 thousand Lebanese pounds and (11%) did not exceed 150 thousand Lebanese pounds. This indicates a difference among centers with regard to number of employees and size of services.

The level of expenditures of (31%) of the centers of the General Directorate of Health ranged between 250 and 500 thousand Lebanese pounds, (20 %) between 100 and 250 thousand Lebanese pounds and (25%) less than 100 thousand Lebanese pounds while only (11%) of the centers their level of expenditures reached half a million Lebanese pounds.

The number of employees of all categories working on full-time basis in the General Directorate of Social Affairs is 578 in addition to 124 employees working on part-time basis . As to job categories, (8.7%) are specialists in the social fields, (38.5%) specialists in social work (39.6%) vocational training and handicrafts, (16.2%), administrative workers and (23.4%) menial staff. All these employees are distributed among the centers according to the size of each center.

The total number of different categories of employees in the General Directorate of Health is 550, a large number 364 work in the health field as doctors, mid-wives staff , practical nurses and others, while the rest occupy administrative jobs.

Lastly, we may note that the expansion both of the services and the centers did not correspond to the rising needs during the war period. This situation necessitates additional budgets in the future to redress these shortcomings.
